ULI Europe Conference 2026 – Programme theme:

Why “European Competitiveness”?

Timely & Strategic

- Europe faces an existential challenge to remain competitive (Draghi Report, Sept. ‘24).
- Economic stagnation risk vs. global rivals (US, China).
- Geopolitical uncertainty reshaping investment priorities.

Real Estate as a Driver

- Real estate is critical infrastructure for innovation, sustainability, and growth.
- Cities and buildings enable competitiveness, talent mobility, and resilience.
- Industry must close the perception gap—key to economic stability and social cohesion.

Integrates Key Trends

- Housing affordability as a competitiveness issue.
- Convergence of real estate & infrastructure: data centres, clean tech, life sciences, education.
- Public-private collaboration essential for renewal.
- Allows focus on gateway cities & innovation hubs.

Sustainability at the Europe Conference

At ULI Europe Conference Berlin 2026, we are committed to hosting an event that prioritises sustainability and minimises our environmental impact. We recognise the importance of creating experiences that are both enjoyable and responsible. Our sustainability goals include:

Waste Reduction: We aim to minimise waste by promoting attendees to confirm their attendance for our Conference Dinner to minimise food waste and encouraging recycling throughout all our events during the week.

Local Sourcing: To support local communities and reduce transportation emissions, we will work with local vendor caterers and feature sustainable food options with a focus on plant-based choices where possible.

Transportation: We encourage attendees to use public transport, share with delegates, or opt for green transport options like biking and walking.

Eco-friendly Materials: We are committed to using environmentally friendly event materials, including signage made from recycled materials, and will avoid unnecessary print materials by offering digital resources where possible.
